

David Bolinbroke

David Bolingbroke is a historian with Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints' (LDS) Church History Department and Adjunct Professor at Brigham Young University. He received a Ph.D. in American environmental history from Washington State University in 2020. His research areas include American environmental history, public history, and LDS history. He lives in Utah with his wife, Mara and their three boys.

Employment

Associate Historian, Church History Department Research and Outreach Division, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (July 2023-present)

Adjunct Professor, Department of History, Brigham Young University (September 2022-present)

Publications

Bolingbroke, David, et. al. Saints Volume 4: Sounded in Every Ear. Salt Lake City, UT: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. (2024).

Bolingbroke, David, et. al. Global Histories. Salt Lake City, UT: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Bolingbroke, David, et. al. Discourses of Eliza R. Snow: A Digital History Project of the Church History Department. Salt Lake City, UT: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (2022).

Morris, Craig, and David Bolingbroke. "From Bread to Cake: A Global History of US Pacific Northwest Wheat During the Cold War." Agricultural History 96, no. 3 (August 2022).

Bolingbroke, David. "Finding New Fish for a Desert Lake: Pyramid Lake Trout Restoration in the 1950s and 1960s." Nevada Historical Society Quarterly 65, no. 1 (2022).